“ *My family and I will always remember my brother as being such a loving and giving person. So many stories he would tell and always knew we would be laughing at the end of it. H loved playing the accordion and q-chord. He thought everyone had an ear for playing by-ear as they called it many years ago. I tried but never could get it right. I have an omi-chord because he was so convinced I could do it. We all have some of his woodworking item that are so precious. He had many talents, and his friends and family will miss him dearly.
