“ Justin Levi, My best friend, My go to person when life seemed to hard. This isn't goodbye as I know I will feel you in the winds breeze, the rain drops that fall, the snow flakes that will land on my nose. There wont be a day where I look to the sky and don't see you! Im thankful for the love and the laughter we shared together! I hope you are on that farm with all the baby animals. You deserve so much more than what this life gave you im thankful you are at peace! See you later <3
