Ike was born on a farm Northwest of Pleasanton, NE on December 1, 1922. He continues to farm and raise cattle in that same area his entire life except for the years spent in the Air Force.

He spent a couple years in officers' training during WWII. He came home for a short while and was recalled into service during the Korean conflict preparation. He retired with the rank of Captain with his dad and later his son-in-law, Dick Riessland.

He loved to dance, do wood working, putz around with his dogs and enjoyed socializing over coffee.

Survivors include her daughter, Connie Riessland of Pleasanton; grandchildren, Laurie Riessland, Cody (Heidi) Riessland, and Corey Riessland all of Pleasanton, Lana (Troy) Juracek of Louisville, NE, and Amy (Ron) Riessland-Conaway of Ralston, NE; and thirteen great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife Pearl; his parents; and his sister Violet Johnson; and his son-in-law, Dick Riessland.
