“ I have fond memories of Shirley as a member of Town & Country garden club. We always had great fun at our get togethers, working on projects & learning so much from each other. Each year as I decorate our Christmas tree I think of her when I place the crochet butterfly she made for our club tree at the DC Museum one year, making enough for each member to keep one. Now she's enjoying the most beautiful peaceful garden.

“ Mrs. Scoville served as my school teacher for 6-8th grade at R-3 school in the early 70's. I attended a total of twenty years of school including seven years of college and professional school and was fortunate enough to have many qualified, noteworthy professionals educate me but only had one teacher that stood out as the person who truly inspired my love for learning. Without hesitation, I can say that Mrs. Scoville brought a unique perspective to the learning environment that not only challenged a student to perform at their peak potential; but also inspired a love for learning that became ingrained into her student's mindset. I was lucky enough to attend a small, rural school wherein the entire Williamsburg community embraced it's children with love, discipline, and respect. Mrs. Scoville embraced that sense of "R-3 and Williamsburg community" even though she lived and raised her own children in a neighboring community. She was an excellent motivator and had a motherly touch that resembled my own mom's persona which inspired me to not want to disappoint her academically or personally. As earlier stated, I benefited from the excellent teaching of many grade school, high school, and college educators, but only had one teacher that wins the "Best Teacher of My Lifetime Award". Heaven has certainly gained an excellent teacher, mother, and human being.

“ We would like to send our condolences to the Scoville family. We live neighbors surely and her family several years. We had a Bible study in our own that Shirley was a part of for several years. Our Bible study consisted of about 10 people from the Elm Creek area. She enjoyed the company and reading the Bible. She left our Bible study when she moved to Elwood. Bill
